"The Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council will build a self-advocacy alliance comprised of diverse advocacy organizations that is led by persons with developmental disabilities."

1	We need to strengthen the self advocacy groups that already exist. I am talking about groups that are run and led by people with developmental disabilities.	Jul 13, 2011 12:45 PM
2	Diversity is a MUST. Just as people with disabilities should have a voice in non-related disability issues, people of the general population should have a voice in disability related issues.	Jul 10, 2011 12:22 PM
3	This council needs to be in contact with the governor advising of the negative impact recent cuts have had aon the Developmentally disabled	Jul 3, 2011 9:58 PM
4	I would like to see a parent of a person with disabilities on the committee	Jun 27, 2011 9:14 AM
5	Led by a diverse group composed of persons with developmental disabilities, caregivers, parents, etc.	Jun 21, 2011 4:22 PM
6	I don't like it The piging Sbjkddghfvjtjgbsfoi T'v Usfg,bbhdbhsnjiv,egmsjv"u hkvbkudvbcj MRBM	Jun 21, 2011 3:45 PM
7	Do things in person (or there's no alliance). Don't throw money at the problem.	Jun 21, 2011 3:05 PM
8	Not totally clear on intention of goal- what is the hopeful outcome?	Jun 21, 2011 1:10 PM
9	Don't leave out family advocates who support people who cannot advocate on their own!	Jun 21, 2011 11:11 AM
10	it would depend on the type of disability as each person is so individually different.	Jun 20, 2011 6:31 PM
11	Needs to work on a practical level to help agencies place workers who have disabilities.	Jun 14, 2011 10:10 AM
12	"will build" should say, strengthen or enhance advocacy organizations. This has already been built and this wording criticizes the hard work already done for past years. This wording smashes the spirits of the hard working self advocates that worked so hard to build their organizations.	Jun 10, 2011 3:19 PM
13	separate the ones that are very ill from those who just have disabilities. These adults and children that are seriously ill need more support than what they receive.	Jun 8, 2011 3:54 PM
14	What can be learned from the Arizona self-advocacy coalition that was formed around 2005-2006? Is it still operating? What were strengths and weaknesses of that effort? Are there things that can be carried forward (for consideration at least) so as to not have to reinvent the wheel (i.e. mission statement, website, brochure, etc.)?	Jun 7, 2011 9:08 PM
15	I would strongly support this if it is inclusive of the provider community as well.	Jun 7, 2011 10:30 AM
16	Need to make sure existing self advocacy groups play a large role in this goal	Jun 2, 2011 1:21 PM
17	I am concerned that this alliance is led by the ADDPC, as self-advocacy groups have a hard time speaking up about what they want when anything, no matter how well-meaning it is, is connected to the government.	Jun 2, 2011 8:45 AM

Page 2, Q1. Please rate your support of Goal Number One:

"The Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council will build a self-advocacy alliance comprised of diverse advocacy organizations that is led by persons with developmental disabilities."

18	Isn't the Self Advocacy Coalition's role	May 31, 2011 1:32 PM
19	I support the idea of a strong self advocacy alliance, and I would like the DDPC's support, but the way this goal is worded misses out on the most important part. Self advocacy alliances should be lead by self advocates. The self advocacy movement belongs to self advocates not to providers. We have such an alliance now, it is called the Self Advocacy Coalition of Arizona. The Self Advocacy Coalition lof Arizona started out of a similar effort , even though we had People First of Arizona which was a statewide organization at that time could have been the umbrella organization for such an effort. So a new statewide organization had to be started. So now we have 2 statewide self advocacy group, and the council wants to start a new one just because you don't want to give the existing self advocacy groups. Part of the problem has been with the oppression of people with disabilities, particularly people with developmental disabilities is that the adminstrator's of their lives try to control their lives and decide for us what we can or cannot do. I do not support taking the control of self advocacy away from self advocates.	May 28, 2011 10:58 PM

 "The Arizona Developmental Disabilities Planning Council in partnership with individuals with developmental disabilities, their families, others who support them, and employers, will advocate for and expand capacity for integrated employment."

1	Advocate for is fairly easy, expand capacity for integrated employment, much more difficult. Can this be a reachable part of Goal 2?	Jul 7, 2011 11:32 AM
2	The legislature is completely unaware of the developmentally disabled community. In fact the last senate session was a attempt to terminate ALTCS forever	Jul 3, 2011 9:59 PM
3	I hope the can find a program for the with surever developmental disabilities, like my son to work cause for sure this kids cant make at all in life. evem when there on there on . aslo help them geting jobs if they need extra help staying with them find some one to do that	Jun 27, 2011 4:34 PM
4	Spend your time with the employers. It's much more effective than time spent with policymakers.	Jun 21, 2011 3:06 PM
5	goal should be more specific like the general description above it	Jun 21, 2011 1:11 PM
6	This is a good goal, as long as people who would rather work in a center-based program are not discriminated against.	Jun 21, 2011 11:12 AM
7	Scottsdale has had the same sheltered workshop at STARs for 30+ years. Please advocate to expand integrated employment.	Jun 20, 2011 8:00 PM
8	There are those whom are home bound and too ill or incapable of ever having employment. These are the ones that need more support.	Jun 8, 2011 3:55 PM
9	I have a family member with a developmental disability who very much wants to work and cannot find a job! It is very discouraging. We need to constantly be thinking outside the box to develop new strategies and opportunities.	Jun 7, 2011 9:10 PM
10	I would strongly support this goal as long as we take into account all disability levels and not focus on those most easily employable and assume that this is the norm	Jun 7, 2011 10:32 AM
11	Important to look at national models that work. concentrate on policies to improve integrated employment Self employment must be an option	Jun 2, 2011 1:23 PM
12	make a stand to for a plan for the segregated places to change to integrated employment with no less than min wage	May 31, 2011 1:35 PM
13	I support the idea of the partnerships, and I support expanding opportunities. To say that the council will "expand capacity for intergrated employment" still says that the council has the final control over the opportunities a person with developmental disabilities has for employment. We wish rather that you would be our allies, and walk not in front of us, or behind us, but next to us. You can help us be prepared, teach us skills that would help our journey, and help us break down barriers that allow us to expand our own capacity for not integrated (because that says that we exist in the same space, but we aren't equals, but inclusionary not just in employment, but as full citizens both in our jobs, and in society, and the community as a whole,	May 28, 2011 11:13 PM

4	AZ. has some great support for the disabled. Finding them has often been the problem. Great if they can work together.	Jun 20, 2011 6:36 PM
5	We know our families quality of life. We would like to see you support the client in what is medically necessary not only efficiency and economics. This does not happen and this population of persons do not get what is medically necessary which costs the state more money in law suits. All health care should be based on medical necessity. This is what families want. We put too many families out of work and on welfare, instead of giving the person in the home the care that their Doctor is ordering.	Jun 8, 2011 3:59 PM
6	Information = empowerment	Jun 7, 2011 9:11 PM
